WITHOUT ADVENTURE... WHAT IS LIFE?

Morocco Kayaking

Here in Morocco we have the perfect setting for a very relaxed, week long kayaking holiday. Set in the magnificent Middle Atlas mountain range, the Ahansal River is the perfect remedy for those winter blues with its crystal clear warm waters and fun rapids. A wonderful chance to dust the cobwebs from your kayak and paddle beneath beautiful warm skies, in a truly fantastic location. And with the opportunity to take on some top kayak surf on the coast, it is a trip with a huge amount of fun and diversity.

Your Itinerary

Day 1:

Flights generally arrive into Marrakech in the evening. You will be met at the airport by one of the guides who will take you to your hotel and make sure that you get settled in. Then it's out to explore the local restaurants and culture. (No meals included)

Day 2:

We enjoy a hearty breakfast at our hotel, and then board our 4 wheel drive vehicles bound for the heart of the Atlas Mountains. We drive from Marrakech northward toward the middle Atlas Mountains. We stop in stunning olive groves for a sumptuous lunch and drive towards Tilouguite pausing to take in the view as we cross this picturesque mountain range. We cross the river just past Tilouguite and drive a little further to one of the fantastic campsites. We dine in style amidst the stunning landscapes.

Day 3:

After a thorough safety briefing we load the gear raft, launch our kayaks and take on the rapids! Depending on flows this can be a fun technical river or big volume and bouncy! We paddle through the narrows in Tilouguite with delighted locals jumping into the river to wave us on. We camp amongst cedar trees at 'Barking Dog' camp. The afternoon is yours to play in the playholes, explore the nearby mountains or maybe have a game of volleyball on the beach.

Day 4:

Today sees more roller coaster rapids as we head down river and discover the majestic beauty of this land. Some great fun surf waves today. Our day is interrupted by a relaxing lunch, accompanied by the curious locals churning wheat at local waterwheels. We kayak around 4-5 hours per day, leaving plenty of time to go and explore nearby villages, or just sit around with your fellow paddlers and have a beer.

Day 5:

It is great to remember where we are on the edge of the Sahara, in this crystal clear river, tackling the best whitewater that Morocco has to offer. Rapids come thick and fast on this river and what a great way to hone your skills! After a lunch of fresh foods, we walk up the valley to a nearby Kasbah, and relax and sample Moroccan hospitality. We surf and play our way down to camp in the stunning last gorge of this river journey and in the evening recount the day's tales around the campfire with a Rum Punch or two!

(Included: All meals Days 2 to 5)

Day 6:

On the last day we finish off with a few fun rapids and then paddle towards Lake Bin El Ouidane where we will load the kayaks on the gear raft and motor across the lake to our waiting vehicle. A great way to relax with a chilled beer! We drive back to Marrakech for the evening and soak up the atmosphere in one of the many fine restaurants.
(Included: Breakfast and Lunch)

Day 7:

The focal point of Marrakech is the Djemaa el-Fna, a huge square in the old part of town. Although it is a lively place at any time of day it really comes into its own in the evening. Rows of open air food stalls are set up and mouth watering aromas fill the square. Jugglers, story tellers, snake charmers, magicians and acrobats take over the rest of the space, each surrounded by jostling spectators. It really is an amazing place!
(Included: Breakfast Day 7)

Day 8:

Time for the special AdventureX add on! We drive the two and a half hours to the famed Jimmy Hendrix Beach in Essaouira. We set up camp here on the beach and take our boards and kayaks out for a surf in the Atlantic. A chance in the afternoon to go shopping around the amazing food markets in this great town for some fresh fish for dinner. You will no doubt sleep well this evening, relaxed and content with the sound of the waves.
(Included: Breakfast Day 8)

Day 9:

Enjoy the day surfing with your kayak and soaking up the beach atmosphere in Essaouira.
(Included: Breakfast Day 9)

Day 10:

Flights normally leave Marrakech around midday, so a chance for a last surf and then we pack up and head straight back to the airport to catch our flights home.
(Included: Breakfast Day 10)

Getting There and Away:

If you have any queries or need a hand at all in arranging your flights, please give us a shout. There are multiple options including Royal Air Maroc out of Heathrow, or even Easy jet for a cheap and easy flight. The return flight is a morning departure out of Marrakech with an afternoon arrival into Heathrow.

There are lots of options available so be it a flight from another airport in the UK, Europe or USA we will give you advice on what is the best deal around and help you with your booking.

Visa Requirements:

Normally you can enter Morocco with a minimum of formalities. Visas are not required for British citizens – however if you are of any other origin please contact us as an entry visa from the Moroccan Embassy may be required. A passport valid for at least 6 months is required for entry.

Jabs:

Morocco is relatively disease free, although Certificates of Inoculation for Cholera are required by those travellers arriving from infected areas. No other vaccinations are compulsory, although we would recommend consulting your GP or specialist vaccination centre. They may suggest that you get up to date against Polio and Tetanus.

You should take care when drinking water especially ice. Reputable brands of sealed bottled water are usually fine, just make sure they are sealed! All the water on the trip is treated so you won't have to worry there, but just keep an eye on it when we are in towns. Anti malarial medication is not necessary.

Exchange Rates:

The current rates for the American dollar to the Moroccan Dirham is around 1:9 and for the GBP to the Moroccan Dirham is around 1:16. So the place remains quite good value. However prices generally vary between the local and tourist price. To give you idea how far your money will go, a meal in a medium range restaurant will cost around Dr70 and a more upmarket place for around Dr150 including wine. You can easily exchange money in banks. Tipping and bargaining are an integral part of Moroccan life. Generally a 10% tip should be left after a meal. Bargaining is great fun and generally a very social event in Morocco, with the merchant generally sitting down and enjoying a cup of the traditional mint tea with you.

Retail Therapy Options:

Strolling through the souks is a wonderful feast for the senses. Whether you are looking for a ring, a carpet, a pair of slippers or a wicker basket, it will certainly be a rewarding and humorous experience. Every region has its specialities and the markets are packed full of craft souks.

Climate:

The geological variety of Morocco gives a wide range of climatic conditions. Be prepared, because almost anything can happen. As we are kayaking in the Atlas Mountains it can get cool in the evening and it is a good idea to bring a reasonably warm sleeping bag and also a fleece jacket and some long pants. During the day temperatures are relatively warm whilst we are on the river and normal kayaking attire will be fine. We suggest maybe bringing a thermal top though if you are susceptible to feeling the cold. On average at this time of year you can expect temperatures of 24 - 32 degrees Celsius. Rain is also a possibility although not likely.

Fitness and Safety:

There are no special fitness requirements for this Kayaking trip, the main thing recommended is a sense of adventure! The minimum age for this trip is 16 years and there is no upper age limit providing that you are in reasonable physical shape and you are aware of the rigours of a whitewater kayak expedition in a foreign country. Please make a point of telling us if you have any medical conditions or allergies or are on any medication that you think we should be aware of. Safety is our foremost consideration at all times whether on or off the river. We are out there for a great time and we want you to feel comfortable in your new environment.

Dress Code:

The dress code in and around the town of Marrakech remains fairly casual. Lightweight casual clothes are recommended during the day. On the river you require little more than your usual kayak gear and a bathing costume and shorts. We also recommend a pair of Teva sandals or wet shoes. Women should be aware that in country areas they should keep their legs, shoulders and upper arms covered and avoid skin tight clothing as this will attract unwanted attention and is considered inappropriate wear in the Muslim religion.

Personal Equipment:

After years on the river the guides have found exactly what is necessary to feel comfortable kayaking by day, cosy around the camp at night and totally in style in town before and after the trip. Therefore our equipment list will mean that you will be perfectly attired and outfitted for your whole trip and well under the baggage allowance. A full list of what we recommend will be sent to you after your booking confirmation. We find that most people already have in their possession what is needed for a kayaking trip and very little if anything in specialised equipment needs to be bought.

Finally...

Please remember that things do change, prices go up and down, activities stop running or change format and weather can send the best laid plans out the door. AdventureX will do its best to provide what is described above but please take into consideration the nature of the journey that you are embarking on and the country that you are travelling in and understand that a certain degree of flexibility is necessary!

Morocco has something to offer everybody - great whitewater, gorgeous scenery all topped off with the charming people and history of this fascinating land. This is a brilliant trip for kayakers - we look forward to seeing you there!
